

Men: jump to page 7

Women start here:

As soon as a man dates you, he uses his Boyfriend Supernatural Sensitivities. Similar to his hunting DNA, he has a pseudo-psychic ability (you've noticed this) wired into him to scan you.

He does this to determine if he wants to go the distance with you in marriage or drag you along indefinitely in a relationship convenient to him.

Of course, he will not announce this, but your evolvment in relationship-land is to master the 3 True-Wife Qualities a guy scans you for each day.

In fact, these qualities are enhancers (shall I say reminders) for your own life. The more you invest in the full-expression of you first, and the budding relationship second, you will be a natural at these 3 True-Wife Qualities.

But if you shift focus to trying to get him, all bets are off.

He likes you expressing the uniqueness of you not obsessing or controlling him to win him. He'd rather win you.

If you implement each point in this short list, you'll find it leads to a marriage proposal instead of the slow fade relationship that goes nowhere. Let's get into it.

The 3 True-Wife Qualities He Qualifies You For Everyday

If you are in a slow-progress relationship with a great guy, it's likely you are failing his 3 True-Wife Qualities in one or more categories.

He may love you, and see potential, but he won't advance the relationship until you satisfy the 3 True-Wife Qualities consistently.

These qualities are all vibrational energy. None of the qualities are external attributes like how much money you make, what size you are, what your hair color is, how smart you are, where you work, which car you drive, or which school you attended.

1. He's studying your BODY LANGUAGE

Stay with me. Yes, he will check out your body. That's what guys do.

But he's using his Boyfriend Supernatural Sensitivities to go deeper than physique. He's checking out your body LANGUAGE towards HIM. It's very primal to assess energy.

- Does your body language read as impatient because you're drumming your fingers on the table while he's talking as you wait to jump in? He wants your active listening: eyes to his eyes listening rather than figuring out what you want to say.
- Does your body language read busy--too busy--because you are always multi-tasking in front of him with an occasional "uh-huh" as he talks? He wants your undivided attention.

The 3 True-Wife Qualities Guys Scan For Everyday

- Does your body language read competitive, challenging, or aggressive as you stand in front of him with arms crossed? He wants ease with you and prefers you in feminine body language which is a receptive language--with him. He wants romance, not challenges. Leaning back from him, instead of into him so that he can come towards you will evoke romantic posturing.
- Does your body language read mom-like? Are you hovering, helping him, doing for him, or trying to make his life easier? You may feel soothed doing these maternal behaviors, but he strongly dislikes them.

2. He's checking for TONE AND WORD CONGRUENCY

- When you get triggered it's your own issues. The person you want to blame isn't the issue. You're reaction hurts you and him. Far healthier to breathe, reflect and not burden the relationship with "your stuff."
- Do you yell at him "Don't you know I love you?!" while interrogating him? He feels terrorized. He needs your love proclamations to match a tone of love. Otherwise why give up his singledom?

The 3 True-Wife Qualities Guys Scan For Everyday

- Do you claim helplessness to get his attention? He wants a woman capable of handling her day-to-day life.
- Do you profess you want more time with him but when he asks you out, you squish him into the one hour you can find? Or equally off-putting, do you put your life on hold to be available to him? Rearrange activities if they are easily rescheduled and make yourself available to date him.
- Do you not express your opinion but pretend you're open to him deciding because you don't have an opinion? Your tone and words are off; he finds it all too unsavory for a lifetime of that. Healthy couples appreciate shared intimacy both physically and emotionally.
- Do you expect him to be a mind reader and guess your needs? Not only are men not mind readers, but he also wants you to maturely share your feelings in a non-judgmental way so he can understand what page you are on.

3. He's reading your ENERGY aka vibe

- Are you emotionally closed off to him? He'll feel rejected and distance.
- Do you exude you must be right or all hell will break loose? Control never glues you both together in the long-run. Dig deep inside to discover where the need to control him comes from. Heal that instead of controlling him.

The 3 True-Wife Qualities He Qualifies You For Everyday

- Do you convey loner energy that you don't need him for anything? He needs to see a sense of vulnerability, that you aren't a robot of perfection. Vulnerable doesn't mean your weaknesses. It's more that you are human with feelings. Feeling your feelings is needed for you and for him to understand what's going on with you.
- Is your energy all about mothering? When women mother a child it feels soothing, the child appreciates it (most of the time). But a man is an adult; your mothering feels smothering and he won't be romantic towards you.
- Do you genuinely care for him? Or are you often desperately in need of his time and attention? That is a sure fire way to be ruled out as a potential wife.
- Did you change from the woman he met and dated early on? If you catch yourself focused on him, trying to make yourself sexier, more perfect, putting your life on hold to be available at him, second guessing what he wants in you and generally contorting yourself, he will not consider you for marriage. Why? Because your vibe is not real. He doesn't know who you are. He wants you anchored in you. Unique you. That is important to a guy.

The 3 True-Wife Qualities He Qualifies You For Everyday

- -Do you have a feminine energetic vibe (being receptive) vs. masculine energy (boss mode or mothering mode)? No alpha guy wants a relationship with a dude or a mother-type.

Conclusion

Thanks for reading this information on the Law of Romance. A guy paid attention to every aspect of you.

He's much more quality driven than what media has led you to believe. He's not shallow and non-committal. Without telling you, he's always scanning and qualifying you for the 3 True-Wife Qualities.

With this guide, you enter a romantic relationship with a greater sense of maturity so that the fun, silly, intimate and passionate times can fill your advancing relationship taking the place of insecurity.

The man will want to walk off into the sunset of forever with you in marriage if he's feeling appreciated.

For more advice . . .

Go to www.LawOfRomance.com now...

Don't ask a woman these questions if you want a date.

1. "So, what do you look for in a guy?"

This is like a job interview question, "Why should we hire you?" or "What describes your workplace personality?" The question isn't fun and it takes too long to answer. Instead, ask her, "Ok. If you had to vacation in the mountains or the near the ocean which one would you pick?" Then inquire about her answer.

2. "Wow, how is it you're not taken?"

Terrible question. It's basically saying "what's wrong with you?" Instead ask, "Have you tried the food at ____ restaurant? Did you like it?" Be interested in her answer. Be aware. Be focused.

3. "What was your last relationship like?"

Arrgh. Stay out of the past. Dates are supposed to be fun. Don't bring up pain. Stay with her in the present. Tell her she "looks great" and you're glad you're meeting.

4. "How has online dating been for you?"

It's none of your business. Ask her what hobbies that she enjoys.

Thanks! Stay tuned for great emails.
I look forward to getting to know you.

Go to www.LawOfRomance.com now...